THOUGHT-LEADING MANAGEMENT: Every edition of Aggregates Business in 2018 will include an in-depth business-focused management feature exploring the ideas and the challenges driving our industry. The series will look at topics such as proper product cost optimisation; how to get the costs right for the material coming down the conveyor; how to set your product prices; how to manage your transportation and distribution contractors properly; and how to meet society's growing list of environmental demands and still stay in profit. The series of articles will showcase progressive thinking in aggregates production. How do the best in the business blend tomorrow's technology with a high-quality managerial approach?
